

Dear DOHaD Regional Society Members,

We are excited to announce the opening of abstract submission for the 13th DOHaD World Congress. Thus, we invite you to contribute your brand-new research by submitting abstracts and registering for our congress.

The congress will be held in Buenos Aires, September 7-10th, and it promises to bring together leading experts from around the world to discuss the latest advancements in the field of DOHaD. It will be an excellent opportunity for networking, knowledge sharing, and collaboration with peers and thought leaders.

Key Details:

- Abstract Submission Deadline: April 18th
- Registration Early Bird Deadline: May 15th

We encourage students, researchers, clinicians, and professionals in the DOHaD field to submit their abstracts for oral or poster presentations (all in-person). Your contributions are vital to advancing the understanding of how early-life environmental factors influence long-term health.

Students enrolled in undergraduate or graduate programs, especially those from low- and middle-income countries, can apply for a travel award when submitting their abstract. The award includes free registration and a three-night stay in a shared double room.

To submit your abstract and register for the congress, please visit our official website. Detailed instructions on abstract submission, registration, travel award, VISA and event logistics can be found there.

To get a discount on registration, don't forget to become a member of the International DOHaD. For more information, please visit the LA-DOHaD website.

We look forward to seeing you at the 13th DOHaD World Congress and to the invaluable insights you will bring to our congress.
